

Scientists unveil enzyme that may be malaria

London, May 5 : Scientists at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg have identified an enzyme which is key to the mechanism whereby the malaria parasite Plasmodium infects red blood cells, and gobbles up the haemoglobin proteins that transport oxygen in the...

US, EU asked to reconsider biofuel goals as food prices rise

By AOIFE WHITEAP BUSINESS WRITER BRUSSELS, Belgium -- The U.S. and European Union should reconsider a shift to biofuels that has helped increase food prices worldwide by turning agricultural land...

Clear Packets Announces Enterprise Security and Employee Internet Management Gateway

Posted on: Monday, 5 May 2008, 12:00 CDT Clear Packets today announced general availability of its FMS-Enterprise Gateway, the first true enterprise class integrated solution for virus protection,...

Govt assesses ways to protect computer networks

NEW DELHI: Fresh attempts by Chinese hackers to break into the computer system of Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) recently has prompted the government to assess ways in which the networks could...

Home Computer Use Can Get You Fired

(WBZ) The vast majority of us have to use a computer at work, but some workers are getting in trouble even when they are using their personal computers at home. For flight attendant Ellen...

Google yanks open-source project after DMCA complaint

In response to a copyright complaint, Google has taken down an open-source project called CoreAVC-for-Linux it had hosted on its Web site. Google didn't share details, but said on the project...

DNA tests add to Schiller mystery

After two years of painstaking DNA research, experts have determined that none of the remains billed as those of Schiller belong to the German writer, who died in Weimar in 1805, Germany's MDR...

Oculus Innovative Sciences Announces Initial Chinese Commercialization Plan for Launch of Microcyn Technology

Posted on: Monday, 5 May 2008, 12:00 CDT Oculus Innovative Sciences, Inc. (Nasdaq: OCLS), a biopharmaceutical company that develops, manufactures and markets a family of products based upon the...

NYC Gets 3G Wireless

(05-05) 10:24 PDT NEW YORK, (AP) -- T-Mobile USA has fired up its third-generation wireless network in the U.S., announcing Monday that it's now live in New York City; though few phones can...

IBM reshuffles its executive deck

IBM CEO Sam Palmisano announced a series of retirements and appointments among his executive staff. It continues IBM's tradition of promoting from...

AP news service geared for iPhone

TRIONZ
 IDEAL GEAR FOR ACTIVE LIFESTYLES

BUY NOW

www.trionz.com?
 cmd=products&type=2